Description

Author: Rory Sullivan.

The World Summit on Sustainable Development in Johannesburg clearly identified the corporate sector as one of the key actors in the delivery of national and international poverty reduction targets in developing countries. Partnerships between government, civil society and business were proposed as one means whereby these poverty reduction targets were to be achieved. Despite the rhetoric, there was less consideration of how such partnerships could work in practice, the outcomes that could be achieved, or the relative merits of partnerships over other, more traditional approaches to development.
Enterprising solutions: the role of the private sector in Eradicating global poverty. In how we should think about the relationship between public and private flows targeted at promoting development. The most obvious trend—and the one referred to most. According to the U.S. government, the New Alliance now.

20 Oct 2014. Accountability, transparency, participation, and inclusion represent vital embodiments of the opening to politics that occurred in development work in the 2000s by advocating for more inclusive partnerships between developed and developing countries to better incorporate civil society and private sector actors.

13 Sep 2005. Discussion Paper to the DIE-GDI working group: Development Agencies and the Private Sector: How to form successful alliances. Tilman Altenburg. German Development Institute. Private investment possible, e.g. by insuring political risks, facilitating dialogue with governments and civil society, sup-

POLICY-BASED APPROACHES TO POVERTY REDUCTION IN KENYA: STRATEGIES AND CIVIL SOCIETY ENGAGEMENT. Incentives to promote increased role of private sector in the provision of social services and development. Provision of expanded basic needs in education and health through cost-

Forging alliances for sustainable. 4 IFAD, 2011, 'Private-Sector Strategy: Deepening IFAD's engagement with the private sector' and IFAD, 2012, ... smallholders have the skills and means to represent their interests is key. Governments, civil society groups and development organizations all have important roles to play in.

In collaboration with the New Alliance for Food Security and Nutrition, Grow Africa has secured more than $10 billion in commitments from more than 200 global and domestic companies, bringing them into the Alliance with host governments, development partners and civil society. Grow Africa is working closely with African.

arrangements in which actors from two or more spheres of society (state, market and civil society) are involved in a. actor perspective, frames partnerships as possible strategic instruments for the goal achievement and problem solving. link between intersectoral partnerships and sustainable development. Preferably this.

A new generation of partnerships between governments, business and civil society is the best way forward to achieving the strategic goals of the international. by development agencies for decades, the private sector was roped in by the UN in 2015 to partner with UN agencies, national governments, academia and civil.

14 Nov 2016. The GPF also serves as a hub for the Ocean Sanctuary Alliance, a multi-stakeholder partnership of governments, academia, private sector and civil society, to support SDG 14. The GPF also has a strategic alliance with the Liechtenstein Foundation for State Governance, whose mission is to strengthen.
The Role of the Private Sector in Development. Effectiveness: Common Components for Success in. Future Partnerships. Contacts. Daniel Coppard, Director of .. We will need to work with businesses, civil society, foundations, development partner governments from the South, and many more. Such partnerships will.
But what exactly does partnership mean? Where does the private sector – in particular – fit in, and what are its roles in relation to those of governments? Above all . the limits to what governments could achieve without bringing civil society, local government, . A strategy is needed to maximise the contribution of business.

In recent years, the Tanzanian government has opened its mining industry to the private sector. This process has been accompanied by public expectations that the granting of mining . government and civil society partners. .. between the delivery of development programmes and the needs of local communities.

20 Jul 2017 . Fair, Green and Global Alliance. €. 7.936.500 .. Result question 1: To what extent did CSOs improve their capacity and legitimacy to influence decision makers in government, the private sector .. Stronger and more strategic partnerships between civil society organisations (CSOs) and the Netherlands.

4.1.5 Service delivery. 4.1.6 Sustainability. 4.2 Institutional Challenges. 4.2.1 Intra CSO (CSO-CSO) relationships. 4.2.2 CSO-government relationships. 4.2.3 CSO-development partners (donor) relationships. 4.2.4 CSO-private sector relationship. 5. STRATEGIES/APPROACHES TO STRENGTHEN CIVIL SOCIETY.

8 May 2015 . We work to improve private sector provision of basic services for the poorest by helping developing country governments and the private sector ... government, regulators, civil society and international partners to take forward these actions while improving dialogue and trust between stakeholders in the UK.
. the private sector could better work together and partner to achieve the new Sustainable Development Goals. The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development clearly recognizes a prominent role for the private sector. Alliances and innovative partnerships between governments, businesses, civil society and UN Agencies.
National programs for putting ICT in the service of development must be integrated into national development strategies, as defined and implemented on the basis of ... A genuine commitment of government leaders, the private sector and other institutions of the civil society is required to create leverages, benefit from.

People, as part of the civil society, form the core of health systems. They use health services, contribute finances, are care givers and have a role in developing health policies and in shaping health systems. In all these respects, there is growing pressure for public accountability and increased response to inputs from civil.
governments and civil society in partner countries. Public Private Development Partnerships (PPDP) is a key modality for concrete cooperation between Sida and private sector actors. PPDPs encourage the private countries which the government has decided should be target for the Swedish Development Cooperation.
23 Nov 2011. To help fill this gap, this article explores the role of multistakeholder partnerships in addressing climate change and sustainable development in developing-country settings. ... Putting partnerships to work: Strategic alliances for development between government, the private sector and civil society.
gap between national policy and local action on disaster engagements. The Strategy has guided. Working with many partners, GFDRR supported communities, civil society, and the government in. Indonesia to map. Influence and mobilize country investments that put resources directly in the hands of poor households.
but we also sought the views of people working in government and the private sector. and its involvement in critical spheres of development and governance in which civil society is also engaged. Part two about partnerships between civil society and the private sector, and proposes some key principles for engagement.
Strategy. Mekong Institute's Roadmap. Already a dynamic and rapidly changing region within broader Asian and global trends, the Greater Mekong. Private sector development, particularly SME in the agricultural sector and public-private partnerships, is essential for ongoing economic development in the region.
Increasing the level of new private sector investment and innovation in sustainable development; • Achieving systemic transformation of markets to work better for people and the environment; and. • Building mutual trust, accountability and a new social contract between business, governments and civil society. II.
civil society and (3.) the ongoing international (and particularly European) debate about the role of northern non-governmental organisations in development processes of the South. .. efficient and successful cooperation between Welthungerhilfe and its partners in programme ... the government and the private sector).
Drivers of tri-sector partnerships. Journal of Corporate Citizenship, Spring, 57–73. Warner, M.
ment Goals in 2000. The overlap between public and private interest in sustainable development is becoming increasingly clear, and the development and implementation of the Post-2015 agenda will require an unprecedented level of partnership between industry, governments, civil society and other key stakeholders.
Putting partnerships to work: strategic alliances for development between government, the private sector and civil society / edited by Michael Warner and Rory Sullivan. Also Titled. Strategic alliances for development between government, the private sector and civil society.
Author. Warner, M (ed). Other Authors. Warner.
As part of the Board, they participate actively in evolving the organizational strategy, designing the funding model, overseeing the work of the Secretariat, and. Experience has shown that programs implemented by civil society are at least as effective as those put in place by government agencies or private sector.
One of the most significant innovations in the last 15 years of development has been the merging of public, private and civil society sectors into powerful partnerships for poverty reduction through development. There is much to learn and build on from public-private partnerships (PPPs) working in global health such as the.

NCD ALLIANCE STRATEGIC PLAN. 2016-2020. 4. About NCD Alliance. NCD Alliance is a unique civil society network, uniting 2,000 organisations in more than 170 .. development:

Our Vision. Partnership-driven. We will work in collaboration with our partners and the broader NCD and health community, including across.

Partners work together to put international principles for development cooperation into practice in the health sector. IHP+ is transforming into the . Founded in 2002, the Global Fund is a partnership between governments, civil society, the private sector and people affected by the diseases. The Global Fund raises and.

14 Nov 2017 . The current cycle of cooperation of UNICEF Panama (2016-2020) has among its priority areas: strengthening the work with the private sector among other . the Corporate Alliances and CSR Specialist will implement and continue to develop the fundraising strategy of UNICEF Panama and will promote the.

Challenges and Best Practices in the Management and Governance of Multi-Stakeholder Partnerships Involving UN and Civil Society Actors. Background paper ... “Governments, the private sector and civil society should be equal partners when it comes to designing and building our societies of tomorrow”. Renate Bloem.

organisations, and the private sector came together to form a time-bound initiative called Business Partners for. Development, or BPD. Designed as a three-year programme, BPD was established to study, support, and promote strategic examples of tri-sector partnerships— involving business, government, and civil society.

to develop voluntary norms and standards to “govern” the behavior of businesses, governments and members of civil society. A key expectation associated with .. resistance and mere compliance to strategic actions.”53 .. Putting partnerships to work: Alliances for development between government and private sector.

It is composed of representatives of the participating countries, donors, civil society, the private sector, and private foundations as well as international . WHO the World Bank, Partnership for Maternal, Newborn and Child Health (PMNCH),Gavi the Vaccine Alliance and Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria.

1 May 2004 . Putting Partnerships to Work - Strategic Alliances for Development between Government, the Private Sector and Civil Society. Author: edited by Michael Warner, Research Fellow, Overseas Development Institute and Rory Sullivan, Director, Investor Responsibility, Insight Investment, Published on: 1 May.

14 Sep 2017. The position will primarily seek to bolster the implementation of the organization's strategy through building and strengthening international, regional and national partnerships across the spectrum of civil society, private sector, donor communities, as well as national governments to increase policy, political.

23 Jun 2015. This new outlook finds nongovernmental organizations identifying opportunities to work with private sector companies and, in turn, companies are seeing the benefits of greater engagement with civil society and NGOs to build a more strategic approach to development. Cargill and CARE go back a long.

governments for FAO's work at country level provides the conditions and priorities under which. Annex 1, Basic Principles for FAO Partnership with the Private Sector, 7b) Conformity with. FAO's mission, mandate, objectives. with the private sector, foundations, international financial institutions, civil society and academia.

3 Jun 2011. UNAIDS guidance for partnerships with civil society, including people living with HIV and key populations. Photo credits: .. mechanism to promote interaction between government, civil society organizations, and the private sector for implementing HIV strategies/programmes? NCPI. A. II. 3. (p118). ROLES.

They commit to putting the principles for aid effectiveness and development cooperation into practice in the health sector. IHP+ achieves results by mobilizing national governments, development agencies, civil society and others to support a single, country-led national health strategy. Partners aim to hold one another to.

government and private sector) enables Concern to work with a variety of partners and to create links between them. Bringing to . if partnership principles are put into practice effectively. . development of government and civil society institutions and the establishment or enhancement of effective links between these agents.

20 Apr 2017. Held during Global Partnerships Week (GPW), under the theme 17 in 17: Partnerships to Achieve the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), the ... There's a reason why the final goal – Goal 17 – aims to build partnerships between governments, the private sector, and civil society in support of this.

Routledge. Abstract. In the policy discourse on sustainable development, the positive role of cross-sector partnerships. trilateral relationships between firms, civil society and governments are required. This additional .. In the management literature, the argument has been put forward for the integration of resource based.

UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE ON TRADE AND DEVELOPMENT. A compendium of. unCTAd pArTnships. wiTh civil socieTy And. The privATe secTor .. support the debates carried out during meetings of government representatives .. strategies for biological resource conservation and development, and promotes.

14 Aug 2013. These partnerships have often been the most visible form of the government's work with the private sector in advancing development, but they are by no .. the alliance working to mobilize and coordinate actions by governments (in the case of the U.S., through USAID), the private sector and civil society to.

partnerships for development. Bruce Byiers, Francesca Guadagno1, Karim Karaki2. Key messages. The growing reference to CSO-business partnerships as a. 'modality' for .. for collaboration between national or subnational governments, private sector actors and civil society actors. .. Broker networks, strategic alliances.,

This book helps substantially in clarifying the partnership idea. . Development. The partnership outcomes for business, government and civil society are assessed qualitatively and also quantitatively. The second part of the book is on tools to start, manage and monitor . Development between Government, the Private.

between the government, the private sector, research institutions and civil-society organisations. The role of the Dutch public sector is to bring the parties together and co- finance the partnership. The strategy also promotes a matchmaking facility that puts companies in developing countries looking for reliable business.

As America's initiative to combat global hunger and poverty, Feed the Future is putting America's engine of ingenuity and opportunity to work abroad. ... Strengthen strategic coordination to mobilize and align the resources of the diverse partners and stakeholders—including the private sector and civil society—needed to.

2 Aug 2016. Major themes included: 1) commitment by the government and civil society organizations to work cooperatively in order to support the development and implementation of HIV/AIDS interventions in Ghana; 2) the role of civil society organizations in facilitating community mobilization; capacity building; and.

Putting Partnerships to Work: Strategic Alliances for Development between Government, the Private Sector and Civil Society. Books or book chapters. May 2004. Michael Warner and Rory Sullivan (eds.) Providing evidence not only of the viability of partnerships but also that partnership approaches can provide substantially.
agenda for sustainable development. A new global partnership is to provide the overarching frame-work for the future agenda. This partnership is to be based on the common responsibility of all states and indeed all actors, including civil society, the private sector and the academic and research community, for our global.
Putting Partnerships to Work: Strategic Alliances for Development between Government, the Private Sector and Civil Society.
Donors' Civil Society. Strategies and. Partnership Modalities. A Resource Guide. March 2012. Prepared by the UNDP Bureau for Development Policy/ Oslo ... and dialogue between governments and (donor-supported) CSOs without so easily .. and effective governance system, they have put in place different types of.
31 Mar 2016. The Sustainable Development Goals offered a chance to create synergies between civil society, academia, the private sector and other stakeholders, he said, adding that the United Nations could articulate principles for partnerships and put them into action. A number of United Nations bodies and.
a inclusive approach towards the private sector and civil society .. call for collaboration between government agencies, the private . foods are other ongoing development partnerships. A strategic alliance with OLAM international is being developed on employee wellbeing. The GIZ health programme is – among others.
The Partnering Initiative (TPI) is concerned with developing the art and science of cross-sector partnerships. TPI works with . sustainable development - between business, government and civil society. TPI is a .. and R. Sullivan (eds) Putting Partnerships to Work: Strategic Alliances for Development between Government, The Alliance sets out to be inclusive, involving governments, workers' and employers' organizations, UN agencies, regional organizations, partners for development, the private sector, youth, civil society organizations, academia, experts, the media and other actors supporting the aims of SDG 8.7. For the time being, the ILO.
26 Apr 2016. How can the global development community improve governmental transparency and accountability? This week, civil society actors and partners are gathering in Bogota to consider this question, and specifically, the role of civil society in promoting positive change while spurring accountable practices and.

Country Partnership Strategy: Philippines,. 2011–2016. Manila. .. It is difficult to put a definite number to all the CSOs in the country, partly . with strong civil society backing. Government–CSO relations, however, soured after she was accused in. 2005 of electoral fraud in her victory in the May 2004 presidential election.

as effective partnerships for innovative change involving the state, business and civil society working together in a mutually accountable way. Oxfam recognises the enormous positive impact that progressive businesses can have in reducing global poverty. But businesses that put profits before people and the planet should.

A book titled Putting partnerships to work: strategic alliances for development between Government, the Private Sector and Civil Society by Warner and . Companies working on a specific CSR strategy for Tanzania should consider using the information provided by the International Council on Mining and Metals (ICMM).

6 Mar 2015 . Cooperation between African Governments and Civil Society Organizations in tackling corruption was the focus of a recent workshop held in Addis Ababa,. the need to build strategic alliances among anti-corruption agencies, civil society organizations, international organizations, and the private sector in.

Local Partnerships: A guide for partnering with civil society, business and government groups .. was developed for Mercy Corps by Ruth Allen, Director of Governance and Partnerships, with significant contributions from Anna Young,. Bill Farrell .. All partners, including government and the private sector, are central.

24 Feb 2016 . Keywords: private–public partnership; sustainable rural development; entrepreneurship; project .. (GAPPS) [40], which is a volunteer driven, non-profit alliance that includes government, industry, ... dialogue and closer working relationships with the private sector and civil society through the creation.

Creating a Strategic. Alliance. An IISD Knowledge Communications. Practice Note. Heather Creech, Director, Knowledge Communications. 2006 . working together, to build each other's capacity and develop solutions for use outside of the network. Partnership. In the private sector, the term partnership is narrowly.

development angle, and that ideally should not be the case. How does the shrinking space for civil society affect the work on implementing the 2030. Agenda in Kenya and in Africa? The architecture of Agenda 2030 talks heavily about a partnership between the private sector, government, civil society and the people. There.
institutions, private sector entities and dedicated strategy. Building the Alliance. The organisational strategy. The NCD Alliance is guided by our Strategic Plan. 2012-2015. Our work is based on four strategies to drive as a thought leader on NCD policy and practice, a convenor of civil society, a partner to governments.
information, dialogue, and develop strategic alliances involving multiple partners to work together to civil society, academia and the private sector, and to encourage others to join this call to action. Together we can. The Forum supports PAHO Member States in the attainment of the WHO Global Strategy and Best Buys.